Public Disclosure of Form 990-PF Private Foundations

Tax-exempt private foundations are required to make a copy of their Form(s) 990-PF available for public inspection, and to provide copies of such forms to individuals or organizations that request copies. Alternatively, the Internet may be used to make these documents available. (See the "Using the Internet" section which follows.) These rules apply to a foundation's Form(s) 990-PF (and Form 4720, if applicable) for the last three years and to its application for exemption if it was filed after July 15, 1987. A foundation may exclude Form 990-T from the disclosure copy. Form 990-T can be excluded only for returns filed prior to August 18, 2006. A failure to comply can result in an enforcement action by the IRS.

Effective for Returns Filed After 8/17/06

The Pension Protection Act of 2006 extends the public inspection and disclosure requirements and penalties applicable to Form 990 to Form 990-T of Code Section 501(c)(3) organizations. Certain information may be withheld by the organization from public disclosure and inspection if public availability would adversely affect the organization (e.g., information relating to a trade secret, patent, process, style of work or apparatus of the organization).

While the rules create an additional burden on tax exempts, they also provide an opportunity for your foundation to showcase the community benefits it provides. The rules also heighten the need to carefully review all responses, including narrative explanations, contained on your Form 990-PF/990-T before filing.

Where Must Information be Provided?

Generally, a foundation must make its documents available for public inspection at any location where it has three or more employees. If the only services provided at the site are in furtherance of exempt purposes and the site does not serve as an office for management staff, the documents are not required to be made available there.

How Quickly Must Organizations Reply?

Requests for copies can be made in person or in writing. When requests are made in person, the copies must generally be provided on the same business day. There are provisions for delays due to unusual circumstances. However, in no event may the period of delay exceed five business days. Unusual circumstances include times when staff that is capable of fulfilling a request are absent.

Written Requests

A private foundation generally must mail the requested copies within 30 days from the date it receives the written request. However, if the foundation requires advance payment of a reasonable fee for copying and postage, it may provide the copies within 30 days from the date it receives payment rather than the date of the original request.

What Can a Foundation Charge?

You are currently allowed to charge a maximum fee of $1 for the first page and $.15 cents for each subsequent page in addition to actual postage costs.

If any foundation receives a written request for copies with no payment enclosed and the foundation requires payment in advance, the foundation must request payment within seven days from the date it received the request. A foundation is required to accept a personal check for written requests if it does not accept payment by credit card. If a foundation does not require prepayment and the requester does not enclose a prepayment with the request, the foundation must receive consent from a requester before providing copies for which the fee charge for copying and postage would be in excess of $20.

Using the Internet

As an alternative to providing copies, a private foundation may provide access to its exemption application and Forms 990-PF (and Forms 990-T filed after August 17, 2006) through the Internet. In general, the information on the World Wide Web must be in such a format that it may be accessed, downloaded, viewed or printed in the same format as the actual documents. Obviously, an organization would need to make the World Wide Web address available to the general public.

There is nothing that prevents others from posting your Forms 990-PF or 990-T and exemption application on the Internet. Based on this fact and the potential strain on your organization's resources from providing copies, all foundations should consider posting these documents on the Internet.

What if the Requests are a Form of Harassment?

If a foundation feels it is subject to a harassment campaign, it can file an application for a harassment determination with the Internal Revenue Service. This would allow the foundation to suspend compliance with these requests. In addition, an organization may disregard requests for copies in excess of two per month or four per year made by a single individual or sent from a single address, without submitting an application for a harassment determination.
